

Blog Export: Rasmus' Toys Page, <http://toys.lerdorf.com/>

Sunday, November 9, 2003

Wireless Video Camera

Another Linksys gadget. A motion-sensitive wireless video camera that can alert you via email when it sees motion and it streams out 320x240 video. Could use it to bring CarlCam back, although my outbound bandwidth on this Comcast cable connection isn't really sufficient for it.

I have been eyeing the networked cameras like the Axis 2100 (on the right) for quite a while, but they always seemed too pricy. This Linksys is $100 cheaper than the Axis and it is wireless.

Posted by Rasmus in WIFI Toys at 08:37

I had bought a wireless-B 24 ghz internet video camera but it seen like not working . do i have to install anything if so i dont have any cd to install , you did not send me any cd to install..can you please show me how to set this video camera

Anonymous on Jan 10 2004, 11:47

please show me how to set this video camera.. i have a linksys wireless-B24ghz internet video camera I just bought it there's no cd to install but how can i set this camera ...thank you

Anonymous on Jan 10 2004, 11:52

Heya Rasmus,

Great page! When i saw it i kept thinking how it could have easily been my web page if i wasn't so lazy about making one.

Hey, I've been doing the necessary homework on wifi cameras of about this type and pricerange too. The D-link dcs-900W seems to be a comparable and even cheapter alternave to the linksys, going for about half the amount the linksys is. It seems all networked cameras are smart enough to run linux too so the dcs-900w seems like no exception.

Hoping you get around to discussing the models you're eyeing and decision sometime soon since the axis price is dropping even more due to new cameras they've put on the market recently. Great choices you've made thus far in the wifi world realm!

Anonymous on Mar 25 2004, 00:18

Dear Sirs,

We are a Chinese manufacturer that could supply wireless camera with factory price. If you are interested please do contact me. Detailed quotation will follow upon receipt of your reply. We look forward to build a pleasant business relationship with you.

Any of your comments would be appreciated!

Have a nice day!

Michael Lee
ZhongChengXin Industrial Co., Ltd
TEL:+86-755-25194401 25194402
FAX:+86-755-25194409
Website:www.zhongchengxinco.ebigchina.com
E-mail&MSN: michael_lee76@hotmail.com
Zhongchengxin888@163.com
Anonymous on May 26 2004, 20:06